The Hong Kong Oral History Archives Project was jointly operated by the Centre of Asian Studies and Department of Sociology of The University of Hong Kong. During 2001 and 2004, the Project has organized a collection of over 200 oral histories. The collection contains memories of individuals from a diversity of sectors, ethnic groups, trades and occupations, associations and communities. The interviews recorded pivotal points in an interviewee's life, such as his/her birth, family and marriage, schooling and education, employment, migration and connections with his/her home place, residence and community, leisure and social life, as well as their observation and witnesses of special historical events. The interview records have been edited into digitized materials. HKU Libraries and the Centre of Asian Studies have jointly compiled the materials into the Hong Kong Oral History Archives for use of academic, educational and non-profit making purposes.

China Through Western Eyes

New Search
Browse

China Through Western Eyes (CTWE) is a project to digitize and provide online access to materials important to Sinophiles and scholars of China studies. These materials are ones in which Western foreigners wrote and described what they saw and encountered in China from about the 16th century until 1911, in which year the revolution led by Dr. Sun Yat-sen successfully overthrew the Manchu Dynasty, and thus began the modern China era. The printed materials, from which these online files were made, are housed in HKUL's Special Collections. Eventually CTWE will hold approximately 173,000 scanned pages from 389 titles in English, French, German, Spanish, Dutch, Italian and Latin.

Hong Kong and the West until 1860

New Search
Browse

The "Hong Kong & the West until 1860" database was created by the University of Hong Kong Libraries in response to the Pacific Rim Digital Library Alliance's project of setting up among member libraries a digital Pacific Explorations Archive for access and preservation of important materials related to the exploration of the Pacific.

The database is to provide online access and retrieval to a variety of valuable information, including sketches, maps, and accounts of western visitors and settlers about early Hong Kong, which are scattered in rare titles located in Special Collections and Fung Ping Shan Library of the University of Hong Kong Libraries.

The year 1860 has been identified as the cut-off date because it marked the end of the first phase of Hong Kong history. Geographically and politically, the territory of Hong Kong was confined to Hong Kong Island until 1860 when the Convention of Peking was signed under which Kowloon became part of the territory. A total of forty-two titles, mostly in English and published before 1860, were selected from the collection for inclusion into this database. The database now comprises 531 images, including 49 picture and 482 full text. It will be updated periodically to include new entries.

Hong Kong Macau Periodicals Network

序言

「港澳期刊網」建基於香港中文大學圖書館系統獨力開發、並於一九九九年起在互聯網上公開使用的「香港中文期刊論文索引」(HKInChiP)。二零零五年十二月，澳門大學圖書館開始提供澳門出版的中文期刊數據予「索引」。為反映新增內容，兩館於二零零六年九月四日正式推出「港澳期刊網」。

「期刊網」目前主要收錄在香港及澳門出版的中文及雙語期刊，內容方面以人文科學及社會科學為主。引用的期刊共超過三百種；大部份期刊之索引資料從一九八零年開始，但重要之學術期刊則從創刊號開始。收錄最早之期刊為香港第一份中文刊物《遐邇寶珍》(一八五三年八月一日出版)。

基於版權限制，摘要欄位資料只供大學教育資助委員會屬下院校師生瀏覽，其他欄位則公開予所有公眾人士。

HKLIS Dissertations & Theses Collections (DTC)

@HKBU Library

Dissertations and Theses Collections (DTC) is an online union collection of Hong Kong postgraduate students' doctoral and master dissertations and theses indexed in the online catalogues of seven university libraries in Hong Kong. These libraries are:

1. Chinese University of Hong Kong Libraries (CUHK),
2. City University of Hong Kong Library (CityU),
3. Hong Kong Baptist University Library (HKBU),
4. Hong Kong Polytechnic University Library (PolyU),
5. Hong Kong University of Science & Technology Library (HKUST) Free Full Text,
6. Lingnan University Library (LU) Free Full Text,
7. University of Hong Kong Libraries (HKU) Free Full Text

DTC facilitates users to search the dissertations and theses in any or all of the above university libraries simultaneously. It also creates links to the dissertations and theses records indexed in the libraries of your choice, and leads you to their abstracts and full text, if open access is available (Free Full Text) from the corresponding libraries.

The information is as current as the online union collection is indexed and maintained by the individual university library.
